Journal of the First Families of Kentucky

Vol. 14, Issue 2

Summer 2021

Greetings from the Governor General

Dearest Members of First Families of Kentucky, Ladies and Gentlemen:

It is my honor to serve as your Governor General of the First Families of Kentucky for 2021 to 2023. I am a descendant of Edward Spencer, born in Virginia, but later in life travelled with his family to Woodford County and finally settled in Owen and Gallatin Counties of Kentucky. I am fortunate to have a broach left to me by my great grandmother, Mary Spencer. I will wear it proudly on my sash.

Due to restrictions imposed by Covid and unsettling events in and around downtown Louisville, a survey of members was taken, and their responses were overwhelming for us to meet in person at the Audubon Country Club last May. Our annual banquet became the annual luncheon. Eighty-four attendees were present for our first in person meeting in a year. Our meeting was a success, due in part to the program, "The Woman's Hour," presented by Denise Bennett. She portrayed Carrie Chapman Catt who was president of the National American Woman's Suffrage Association.

Save the date. Our fall luncheon will be held at Historic Boone Tavern in Berea, KY on September 25th. Invitations will soon be forthcoming. Let's see if we can surpass the 84 attendees of the Annual Luncheon. Our guest speaker is Dr. Chad Berry, Vice President for Alumni, Communications, and Philanthropy at Berea College. His program, "What The Lessons of John G. Fee and Berea College Can Teach Us Today," will be inspiring.

Wheatleys Retire from Editing Newsletter and Website

Frieda and Murel Wheatley have been editors of the “The Kentuckian” newsletter twice a year and managed our website since 2009. Without volunteers such as them, our communication to membership would suffer. After many years, they have now decided that it is time for them to pass the torch. Each of you receive the newsletter twice a year and probably have never considered the time and effort that goes into the preparation of each edition. Collecting information, asking the membership to volunteer articles about their ancestors and Kentucky consumes many hours. Our thanks to Frieda and Murel for over 12 years of dedication to First Families of Kentucky.

First Families of Kentucky Website

Over the last 12 years, Murel Wheatley has managed the website and I want to encourage each of you to visit the site if you have not done so. Our website is: firstfamiliesofkentucky.com.

There are 7 tabs across the top of the page in addition to the “Home” tab. The Kentucky tab contains the Chronicles of Kentucky, Famous Kentuckians, Flags over Kentucky, and Uniqueness of Kentucky. The Members Only tab contains the Medals and Mementos to purchase, upcoming dates, deceased members, and newest members. It also contains the current Constitution and Proposal submission for possible membership. (For help with the Members only site, contact one of the First Families of Ken- tucky Officers.) The Kentucky Ancestors tab contains the ancestors that have been approved so far for membership. The Officers tab contains the officers of current and previous years. The Links tab contains links to various help sites. The About Us tab is just that. The Kentuckian tab contains links to all previous editions of “The Kentuckian”.

Some areas need updating and the Links tab contains a number of links that have changed, and we will be updating these areas.

Ancestor Profile: Thomas Marshall, Sr.

Thomas Marshall, Jr. was born in 1730 in Westmoreland County, Virginia. He was married to Mary Randolph Keith (1737-1809) and they raised a large family of 15 children. Marshall was already an experienced soldier when the Revolution broke out because he had served as a lieutenant of Virginians in the French & Indian War. He had also gained much leadership experience with his service as high sheriff of Fauquier County and in the Virginia House of Burgesses. He supported independence and recruited a battalion that would be part of the regiment known as the Culpeper Minutemen. He later served during the American Revolution in the Virginia 3rd Regiment, Continental Line. His service during the Revolution included serving as a captain, major, colonel, and provided civil service during the war.

Col. Thomas Marshall and his sons, John and Thomas Jr., fought throughout the Revolutionary War from 1776-1783. They endured many hardships but did not give up. During the coldest winter in history, the Continental Army was reduced from 11,000 men to fewer than 5,000 at Valley Forge as men died and deserted, but not the Marshalls. A story that has been passed through the generations is that Col. Thomas Marshall was in the boat with Gen. George Washington when they crossed the Delaware River and surprised the British on Christmas in 1776 at the Battle of Trenton.

In 1777, Thomas Marshall, his son John, and the Virginia troops were in the thick of the fighting at the Battle of Brandywine. Twice, Col. Marshall was thrown to the ground when his horses were shot from under him. Bounding onto riderless mounts, Marshall saw Gen. William Woodford fall wounded so Marshall assumed command of the regiment himself and held off the British advance. Decorated for his bravery, Marshall was presented a ceremonial sword from the Virginia Assembly and promoted to general.

THOMAS MARSHALL

In 1780, Col. Marshall was appointed Surveyor General of the lands in Kentucky appropriated to the officers and soldiers of the Revolutionary War. In 1785, he returned to Virginia to get his family which he brought west on a flatboat down the Ohio River. Col. Marshall lived at Bucktown, a beautiful farm near Versailles until 1800, when he gave it to his youngest son, Louis. Col. Marshall and his wife then moved to Federal Hill in Washington, Mason County, to live with his son, Thomas Jr. He lived there two years until his death in 1802 and he is buried in the family cemetery.

Many Marshall descendants continue to reside in Mason, Fleming, and surrounding counties. Children of Thomas and Mary Marshall:

First Families Places

A new feature for The Kentuckian newsletter will be to feature photos of homes, buildings, farms, monuments, etc. associated with our First Families of Kentucky ancestors. Is your ancestor's home still in existence? Maybe your ancestor has a special historic marker. Maybe you have visited their farm or taken a photo of his or her tombstone. Your editor is seeking photos of the history associated with our First Families ancestors. We know there are many more ancestors who have not yet been documented with First Families of Kentucky and by bringing attention to these early Kentuckians, you may encourage or help someone else to join plus educate us about these early pioneers.

Here's how to submit: take a clear digital photo, write a short paragraph about the person(s) associated with it, give the location, and email to your editor at kentuckycar@yahoo.com. Your ancestor stories are also welcome.

This log cabin is known as the last home of Daniel Boone when he lived in Kentucky. It is located outside of Carlisle in Nicholas County. It was built in 1795 by Daniel and son Daniel Morgan Boone. They lived there until 1799, then moved west to Missouri. It is not on its original site but has been nicely preserved and the public may stop to visit, just off Hwy. 68.
